Please add these input fields to the "Service Provider Registration" section on the "SpotCrowdProject Registration Process" pdf... Please note: When an Service Provider create a client project task and fills in the input fields for an startup/business plan/ existing business that information will be auto-populated into the "startup/ business plan/existing business" fields so when the startup/business plan/ existing business comes to SpotCrowdProject the registration process wil be quick.

Neeraj, in order to create a criterion for the "Ten Most Active Portfolio" we must use some type of grading or rating. I though we should grade or rate all stakeholders with collaboration, charting and news indicators. This is a simple way to grade a user "Portfolio" without exposing private info, which the user will be concern about.

Please note: Each stakeholder can only

Broker Dealer-Contact startups & investors
Investor-Contact startups & broker dealer
Startup-Contact investor & CF platform
CF Platform-Contact startups only
Service Provider-Contact startup only

Note: If a stakeholder try to contact someone matching their target it will be allow. For example: A Broker Dealer can chat or email from the "Ten Most Active Portfolio" in the USA a startup or investor. But if the any stakeholder try to contact any other stakeholder in another country their credit card will be charge.

The image shows a detailed view of a software application designed for startup management. At the top, there are sections for Alerts, Portfolio Report, Matching Questions, and Quick Overview. The Quick Overview includes a CF Market Pulse chart and a table of Lastest 12 Months Today Upgrades & Downgrades. Below this is a Chat and Email interface. The main content area features a CF News & Tools section with links to News & Events, CF Calculator, Valuation Calculator, and Evaluate Your Risk. It also includes a CF Task section showing 13 tasks in progress, 4 completed, and 4 not started. A large red circle highlights the Alerts section at the top left. Numerous red arrows point from various parts of the interface towards this highlighted area, indicating its central importance or a user's focus on alerts.

Hi EL, I am sorry that I did not get back to you sooner. I don't do consulting; I will try to ask around some of my friends. Yes, you can license the OTS. Basically, you get rights to use OTS and all future versions under BSD. This means that you own the code and can do whatever you want with it (release closed-source products, relicense, resell, etc). The Open Text Summarizer summarizes texts in English, German, Spanish, Russian, Hebrew, Esperanto and other languages. To Support more languages or tweak existing languages can be done by simply editing an XML file of rule. Includes English, French, Spanish, Portuguese, and German. Lexalytics exclusively uses Native Language Packs, which catch more nuances in translation, and offer more precise sentiment analysis: we like good results. <http://libots.sourceforge.net/>

Comments Gauge

The screenshot shows a web-based application for managing crowd funding projects. At the top, there's a navigation bar with links for 'Showcase' (highlighted), 'CF Search', 'Search By', 'CF Models', 'Categories', 'Country', and a search bar. Below the navigation is a large grid of project cards. Each card displays a thumbnail, the project name, the creator's name, the platform, the funding goal, and the amount funded. A 'Comments Gauge' is overlaid on the left side of the grid, showing a vertical color scale from green (Pos) at the top to red (Neg) at the bottom, with yellow (Reward) in the middle. At the bottom of the grid are buttons for 'Prev', 'Displaying 1-20 of 2,043', and 'Next'. To the right of the grid is a map of the United States with orange dots indicating project locations. A callout box highlights a specific project: 'The Cat That Wore A Fedora by Megan Fox in Denver, CO'.
